The section as agreed to by the committee requires that Federal savings and loan branches follow the branch pattern established under State law or practice for State savings and loan associations or mutual savings banks until June 30, 1959. After that date, the branching pattern would be widened to include commercial banks or trust companies. That is, after June 30, 1959, branches would be permitted for Federal savings and loan associations only if under State law or practice a State savings and loan association, mutual savings bank, or commercial bank or trust company could establish a branch. These restrictions would not apply in any case where the Federal Home Loan Bank Board had approved a branch before enactment of the bill, or where proceedings on a branch application before the Board had reached the stage of publication of notice of hearing at least 30 days before enactment.

2. Section 4 (d) of title IV, relating to advertising by institutions that are members of the Federal Home Loan Bank System but are not insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, was amended to prevent them from advertising on or off their premises in a way that would convey the impression that they have FSLIC insurance. *These figures on measures reported included all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 610 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 782 has been filed in the House.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." Reported measures not acted on include measures reported during first session.

TRADE AGREEMENTS EXTENSION

General authority: Authority of the President to enter into trade agreements is extended 3 years from June 30, 1958, to June 30, 1961. (House bill proposed 5 years.)

Tariff reductions: Authority is granted to reduce tariffs by (i) reduction of rates existing on July 1, 1958, by 15 percent in stages of not more than 5 percent in any 12-month period up to June 30, 1961, and unused authority may not be carried over. (House bill proposed 25 percent with not more than 10 percent usable in any 1 year.) (No change made in other alternative reductions of House bill.)

Tariff increases: Same as in House bill.

Escape-clause procedure: The committee changed the House-passed provisions relating to escape-clause procedure by deleting that part whereby a Presidential disapproval of a Tariff Commission recommendation could be overridden by the adoption of a concurrent resolution by a two-thirds vote of both Houses and substituting therefore the following: The Tariff Commission's recommendation would become effective unless a disapproval by the President is confirmed by majority vote of the Congress. In the case of a tie vote by the Tariff Commission as to injury, the affirmative findings would be considered the findings of the Commission. In the event of conflicting recommendations by the Tariff Commission as to remedy, the recommendation which in the opinion of the President provided the greatest relief to the industry would prevail.

Peril-point procedure: Same as in House bill.

National security amendment: The only substantive change made in the House provision on the national security amendment was to broaden the language to provide that the President must take into consideration the effect on national security of a weakening of the country's economy by excessive imports of individual products.

Additional amendment: No other major changes were made in the House-passed bill. The committee, however, did add an amendment to establish a 9-member bipartisan Commission to be composed of 3 members appointed by the President, none of whom may be members of the executive branch, 3 from the Senate Committee on Finance, and 3 from the House Committee on Ways and Means, to investigate and report on the

*These figures on measures reported included all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 920 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 1,063 has been filed in the House.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." Reported measures not acted on include measures reported during first session.

*These figures on measures reported include all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. In the Senate 1,170 reports were filed during the first session and 1,335 in the second session; while the House filed 1,278 in the first session and 1,441 in the second session.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." Reported measures not acted on include measures reported during first session. These data include bills on calendar and in conference at the end of the first session.

Subsequent to sine die adjournment 15 House and 8 Senate special reports were filed and are included in above figures.

INDEX

This index is keyed to the DIGEST as published with the DAILY CONGRESSIONAL RECORD; the page references below are listed accordingly, as D5, D6, etc.

The bill numbers of proposed legislation are affixed to the subject references so that the subject matter of each measure will be readily available. The breakdown under each subject divides the action on the proposals according to: Communications from the President, hearings or actions by House or Senate committee or joint or conference committee, consideration or action by House or Senate Chamber on the measures, and the public law number when the bill or resolution has been enacted.

The use of an index so devised serves a twofold purpose: Gives all references to such legislation in the DIGEST as well as accounts for the status and history of each bill or resolution.
